PREFACE.

IN presenting the LOWELL DIRECTORY for 1894 to the public, it seems desirable to call attention to some facts that deserve mention. Since the last Directory was issued, nearly all the Streets in the City have been renumbered, and many changes have also been made in their names. These alterations and improvements have necessarily increased the labor of canvassing and compiling the Directory and given unusual opportunities for inaccuracies, but great care has been taken to correct such errors, and it is believed that the vast number of figures will be found in their proper places.

The unsettled condition of business has resulted in diminishing the population of Lowell, as well as many other manufacturing cities and towns, and the number of names in this volume of the Directory is reduced to 36,110, thus losing nearly all the gain from 1892 to 1893, but doubtless a year of prosperous trade will restore the number again. To convey a faint idea of the immense amount of labor required in gathering and properly caring for this information, of these 36,110 names by actual count only 2894 remain without change of some sort, or 8 per cent. Seven thousand eight hundred and five are new names this year, and 944 represent persons who have died or removed from the city. The decrease in population does not appear to have affected the business interests so severely as the residences, for our Business Department covers but a fraction of a page less than in 1893.

The Map of Lowell has undergone a complete revision and shows all the Street changes to the present time.

It is thus seen that many matters combine to suggest the necessity and value of the new Directory, and attention is respectfully invited to the TABLE OF CONTENTS, which gives the principal features of interest in the book.

We are grateful to our patrons, the City officials, and all others who by their courtesy have rendered valuable assistance to us in collecting the various kinds of information.

THE PUBLISHERS.

STREET DIRECTORY.

GIVING the location of the Streets, Places, Parks, Squares, etc., and showing what other streets and places run from them, or across them, with the number at which they intersect, taken from the official records.

From this list, the location of any number on a street, or the location of any public building, can be easily ascertained; as, for instance, wishing to know at what part of Central Street No. 320 is located, you look at Central Street, upon page 28, and find that Appleton Street runs from 301, and Tyler Street from 340, showing that 320 Central would come on the left, between Appleton and Tyler.

When a street crosses another, numbers (or ciphers) are given on both sides; but when it begins or ends at that street, the number is given only on the side at which it intersects. Ciphers are used where no numbers exist.

Alarms are sounded by striking two or more rounds of the box number. In cases where two alarms may have been given from different boxes, the second box having struck before the re-call from the first box, the re-call signal from the first box will be two blows, the re-call from the second box will be one blow. The all-out or re-call signal will be given by striking two single blows with an interval of ten seconds between the blows.

Second alarms will be given by striking two blows, followed immediately by one round of the box giving the first alarm.

Third or general alarm will be given by striking three blows, followed immediately by one round of the box, when all companies will respond immediately.

Two strokes repeated three times, at 7.45 A.M. and 1.15 P.M. in summer months, and 7.45 A.M. and 12.45 P.M. in winter months, denote no session of schools. The bells will be struck once at 1 and 8.30 o'clock P.M.
